

CONNOLLY VOTES TO ADD TRILLIONS MORE DEBT BURDEN TO FUTURE GENERATIONS

With his vote today to raise the national debt limit to more than $14 trillion, Gerry Connolly will add trillions more to the Nation's Credit Card. For all of his talk about the need for fiscal responsibility, his vote today and his votes over the past year -- $1 trillion "Stimulus" bill, billions under Cap and Trade tax, and billions more with his vote for the Government takeover of health care, he has shown a true lack of commitment to that goal.

It did not have to be this way. Instead of blindly saddling our children and grandchildren with still more untold debt, we should have been looking for ways to reduce waste, duplication, and mismanagement in government. For years, the General Accountability Office -- the nonpartisan watchdog for Congress -- has produced report after report on wasteful spending in government. It is past time to act.

On the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors I have led the charge against wasteful spending - cutting $100M from the county budget, stopping the construction of a $130 million school administration building and putting an end to the County's purchase of condos and apartments to become one of the largest landlords in the County. I do not just pay lip service to fiscal responsibility, I live it every day. I will bring true fiscal responsibility to Washington.

That is why I ask your support to be your representative in Congress.
